

Blue Pixels Studio was formed in 2004, specializing in Video Editing and Design Services. Since its conception, Blue Pixels Studio offers a full range of multimedia encoding, authoring, mastering and production services, including DVD Authoring, DVD/CD Replication, DVD/CD Duplication, silk screen printing, Graphic and Web Design.

It does not matter if your company is young or old, big or small, traditional or entrepreneurial. In today's world, your customers want to be entertained as well as being informed and educated about your product or service. Audio-Visuals reach out and grab you, quickly get your attention and you can count on having a captive audience.

No matter how complex your project is, we make it easy and we specialize in making your Company look its best.

Our services are broadly categorized into two main areas, Print and Content and Video Production.

More and more companies are getting turned on to the freedom of making their own DVD's and interactive VCD's. DVD's have a huge potential in the Corporate and Professional Market.

Authoring is basically a process of digitizing, editing video, adding menus, incorporating interactive sub menus, chapter points, digitizing and many more features to create a fully functional DVD.

Incorporating professional DVD Authoring into your DVD is ideal for professionals who work with Audio and Video. Examples of typical usage within the Corporate Industry are: -

- Create a portfolio or product disc for distribution to clients
- Archive and record key corporate meetings and presentations
- Easily distribute instructional videos
- Preserve Historical moments for future reference
- Create a large archive of historical documents / photographs

From experience we have learnt that by providing the end user with an interactive interface, they spend more time on your DVD, thereby learning more about your product or service.

Image is everything. Our design team can help build you a strong marketing presence and create for you an assortment of media and promotional content.

With an ever growing client list, Blue Pixels Studio is establishing itself as a Studio with a Passion for doing things differently.
